ELECTION OF DELEGATES AND ALTERNATE DELEGATES

DEMOCRATIC PARTY

Under the Democratic Delegate selection plan adopted for the March 21, 2000 General Primary, Democratic delegates are elected in proportion to the percentage of the primary vote won in that district by each Presidential Preference, except that preferences falling below a 15% threshold are not awarded any delegates or alternate delegates. In order to ensure the district-level delegates are equally divided between men and women, each district's delegate positions are designated by presidential preference beginning with the highest vote-getting presidential preference. The candidates elected at the March Primary under this plan are indicated by (WON) next to their names.

The Democratic Party elected 105 Delegates and 18 Alternates (no alternates were allocated to the eighth and fourteenth congressional districts)

REPUBLICAN PARTY

The election of Republican delegates and alternate delegates is based solely on the individual delegate's or alternate delegate's vote totals. The candidates elected are indicated by (WON) next to their names.

The Republican Party elected 64 Delegates and 64 Alternates.
